MANTLE OF THE EXPERT

Greetings and welcome to the January 2022 Mantle of the Expert newsletter. We hope you are well and looking forward (one day) to the end of the COVID crisis.

This newsletter contains information on lots of new developments in the world of Mantle of the Expert, including an advanced weekend led by Luke Abbott, two new books on Mantle of the Expert, and a special offer for our online Mantle of the Expert course.

As restrictions are beginning to be lifted we are back working in schools, running courses and offering demonstration lessons. If you would like to make a booking please get in touch.

Claire Edwards:

I was so impressed with the simple format, that made the course very easy to follow. Tim's reading of the transcripts made the learning really clear and pausing to consider, and then try out, the new learning was a great way to embed it. The way Tim broke down using Mantle into small steps, allows for a deeper understanding of how it works, ways to plan and how to implement and I found this invaluable for my future practise. I would highly recommend this course.

Deb Forrester:

Right from the start I was hooked and not just because of the great content. The format of the course was so well set out, with everything easy to find and easy to access. The script that accompanied the videos allowed me to add notes as I went and was easy to refer back to, and the tasks and articles helped me better understand each module and also get involved rather than simply watching and listening. I have done more courses etc online in the last 18 months than ever before and this is hands down the most well set-up of them all.
